

TRAINING AND PRESENTATIONS FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

WHAT WE OFFER

EDVOS delivers a range of training and presentations to young people aged 15-24 years. EDVOS is passionate about working with young people to support them to foster safe and respectful relationships with peers, family members, and intimate partners. Our Primary Prevention Team is experienced with delivering one-off sessions and/or a series of workshops and programs with young people.

HOW IT WORKS

Our training and presentations can be tailored depending on the needs of your organisation, service, or school. Our team works collaboratively with you to understand your organisation's learning objectives and outcomes. All sessions are evidence based and interactive and provide helpful information and resources to support young people in exploring these important and invaluable topics.

Our training package includes:

- Delivery of training by a qualified and experienced trainer/s
- Choice between online (via Zoom) or face-to-face delivery
- Links to relevant resources and information
- Pre and post evaluation analysis

TOPICS

- Understanding intimate partner violence and family violence and their impacts
- Healthy vs harmful behaviours in a relationship
- Gender stereotypes and expectations in a relationship i.e. addressing gender roles, responsibilities
- Gender equality and respectful relationships
- Responding to intimate partner violence and family violence disclosures
- Active bystander training – calling out harmful behaviours

YOUTH SETTINGS

- Schools
- Universities
- Tafe
- Youth action/reference groups
- Youth services and programs

LEADERS FOR CHANGE

A program that inspires young people aged 15- 24 years to become gender equality and respectful relationship ambassadors for their local community and beyond. Through a series of mentoring and capacity building workshops, we explore topics themed around equality, respect, discrimination, family violence and taking action!

For more information or for a quote, please contact Primary Prevention Team on 9259 4200 or brianna.myors@edvos.org.au.

